Enquiry Question of the week

What was the Battle of Hastings and how did this influence the future of Britain?

A: The Battle of Hastings happened on the 14th October 1066. It was a huge battle between the Anglo Saxon army (led by King Harold Godwinson) and the Norman army (led by William of Normandy). It took place on a piece of land in Hastings, England (South coast). The battle ended when King Harold was said to have been shot through the eye with an arrow. This battle was significant as it led to the Normans taking over in positions of power in Britain and William being crowned as King of England.
